INTRODUCTION

1. Before each name is placed a number maintained throughout the work for purpose of reference. In case of an officer of the College, O is added after this number.

2. For list of abbreviations used in this work see p. iv.

3. In case of the omission of the name of the state, Massachusetts may generally be understood. The names of other states may be occasionally omitted, in order to avoid repetition, where the connection is so close that there has seemed no chance of misunderstanding.

4. The place from which the student was originally enrolled is omitted when this does not differ from the place in which she now lives.

5. In case the name of the college is omitted after the degree in the students' catalogue, Wellesley College should ordinarily be understood. But the name of the college or other institution conferring the degree is uniformly omitted in the officers' catalogue, pp. vii–xxxi.

6. An attempt has been made to indicate sisters who have been or are in attendance at the College by placing after the paragraph relating to each the number or numbers (in parenthesis) referring to her sister or sisters.

7. It is a matter of great regret that it has proved not practicable to publish more of the interesting biographical information which was received in response to the inquiries sent out in preparation for the RECORD. Especial regret is felt that so little space could be given to writings and literary work of members of the College, past or present. The cards returned have all been carefully preserved, and form a card catalogue rich in biographical material, and ready for reference at any time. All are urged to continue to send in reports of changes and events as they occur, since it is the purpose of the College to carry on this card catalogue and to keep it as nearly at date as possible.

8. The compilers of the RECORD also hope for the co-operation of former members of the College in the work of completing what remains imperfect in the present issue. At the time of publication of the RECORD of 1900, definite addresses were lacking for nearly a thousand former members of the College. It has been the task of the last twelve years to supply these as far as possible, but some still remained undiscovered, and now new failures to respond have given rise to new deficiencies. Any information with regard to these missing addresses will be gratefully received. An address which has not been verified by a recent report from the former member of the College herself is placed in brackets.

9. At the close of the book is a geographical index showing the present distribution of all who are or have been students of the College. It is believed that this will be useful in many ways, and especially in affording valuable suggestions for the formation of Wellesley Clubs.

10. The RECORD owes more than can ever be expressed to a corps of efficient workers, most of them former students of the College, who under the inspiring leadership of Miss Jessie R. Adams, a trained cataloguer, have bent themselves to their ever-lengthening task with rare devotion and complete singleness of purpose. Even under these happy conditions of work the present results could not have been achieved without the untiring helpfulness of class and club secretaries and other former members of the College, who not only responded freely to inquiries, but also contributed suggestions of great value.

OFFICERS, 1875-1912

The following pages (vii-xxxi) are compiled from the list of officers of instruction and government in the College calendar, and not from the official directory. As the policy in regard to the insertion of names in the calendar list of officers has varied somewhat at different periods, inconsistencies will probably be found in the list now presented.

ADDRESS AND ADDITIONAL BIOGRAPHICAL MATERIAL RELATING TO A FORMER STUDENT who is a member of the following list will be found under her name (note appended number) in the students' catalogue, pp. 1-297.

College offices held by former students whose names are not included in this list of officers will be found duly entered after each name in the students' catalogue whenever they were reported on the cards sent out for the collection of data.

Regarding the College or other institution conferring the degree, see 5, p. iii.

For the finding list of married names of women members of the Faculty who were never students of the College, see p. xxxi.

For other explanations, see Introduction, p. iii; for abbreviations, p. iv.

Pages 335-338 of Addenda contain much recent matter, and should be consulted freely, as accuracy is impossible without them.

STUDENTS' CATALOGUE

Pp. 1–297

For explanations, abbreviations, etc., reference should be made to pp. iii, iv.

There should be constant reference to Addenda, pp. 336–339, where some of the errors occurring in these pages have been corrected. Other errors, not detected by the compilers, will be corrected as far as possible, if made known.

All names in the RECORD of 1891 have been transferred to the list of students in the present edition, but no person entering since 1891 has been counted as a student unless she attended at least one semester examination. The same ruling was observed in the RECORD which was published in 1900.

O following a certain number, and placed at the close of the paragraph belonging to a former student, indicates that she has been or still is an officer of the College, and refers the reader to pp. vii–xxxi. In case she is still holding office the fact is indicated by a dash placed after the year in which she entered upon the office, thus: instr. Lat. 07– — would indicate that the former student is still holding the office of instructor in Latin. In all such cases Wellesley College would be the address for the academic year.

The students' catalogue closed June, 1912, and therefore does not contain the names of students who entered the College for the first time in September, 1912.

DAUGHTERS OF FORMER STUDENTS

(This list closed June, 1912.)

The following list, perhaps not entirely accurate or complete, refers to those students of the College now or previously in attendance who are daughters of former students. Opposite the name of each daughter is placed the number which stands before the name of the mother in the students' catalogue, pp. 1-297. On the other hand, any one who wishes to know whether a former student has or has had a daughter in college should find the married name of the former student, and then look for this (surname) in the following list, verifying the result by means of the affixed number.

GEOGRAPHICAL INDEX

The following is an attempt to show the present location and distribution of the students of the College, 1875 to June 1912. By reference to the corresponding numbers standing before the names in the students' catalogue, a complete list of students, present and former, residing in any section can readily be made. The officers of the Alumnae Association have doubtless made a similar grouping of their own number, but it has been a pleasure, as it cannot fail to be of value, to extend the classification to all students, and thus to include those other loyal supporters of all college interests through the years, the non-graduates.

In general the broader grouping of counties is used, but in case the county contains a large city of a name different from that of the county the name of that city is often inserted after the name of the county simply as an additional guide. Such an insertion should not be understood to mean invariably that the limits of the city and of the county are the same. As a guide to work which some one may some time like to do with reference to some other state, detailed grouping in the case of Massachusetts is given for all towns and cities.

A student who has not (yet) received the B.A. degree from Wellesley College is indicated in the following by the parenthesis enclosing her number.
